

DIP - Deutsch-Israelische Projektkooperation
24 Annual Call for Projects

Aims of the program

DIP aims to strengthen excellence in German-Israeli research cooperation and to give substantial support to joint projects of outstanding quality.

Subjects of Interests/Proposal Team

DIP accepts proposals from all fields of science (excluding Social sciences and Humanities) and research with a stated priority for innovative and highly competitive large-scale research projects. The internal committee will give priority to close solid partnership collaboration with senior researchers from both Germany and Israel with a proven reputation in research. The Israeli PI serves as the overall coordinator for the project.

Budget/duration

Up to €1,655,000 for projects of up to 5 years.

Funds should be distributed equally between Israel / German teams.

Submission Procedure

As each Israeli University is entitled to submit only two proposals, a BGU Committee will decide which proposals will be submitted based on internal pre-proposals.

Recommended format of 2 pages pre-proposals:

1. Project Participants: Names & Affiliations of the PI's
2. Background
3. Objectives
4. Description of the Importance of Collaboration
5. Work Plan and Time Table
6. Five Most Important references

Critical comments from prior DIP cycles

The Secretariat of the DIP committee notes two areas where many proposals, excellent in many respects, fall short: the level of cooperation between researchers, and the lack of inclusion of young researchers. In addition, members of the BGU Internal Committee have voiced concern about the stature of the proposed German partners. In preparing pre-proposals, please relate to these three factors.

Please note, early consultation with RDA staff is essential. If you consider yourself a candidate, please update the RDA staff.
